PLOT SUMMARY

Lily, Aine, Chris and Niall are four very different teenagers living in Ireland. Lily wants to rebel and act independently while her parents are strict and overbearing. Aine, her best friend appears to be loud and confident but really struggles at home. Christopher has the opposite problem — being the only child of a single mother, he doesn't want his mom worrying about him all the time. Niall looks up to his father and brother, and wants to work on the farm rather than stay in school, but his mother has high expectations for him in education that he feels he can't meet. Can they manage to negotiate all the difficulties in their lives, without ruining their friendships on the way?
